

Do I have to scan the complete source code or can I just scan parts of it?

No, by applying filters you can reduce the lines of code analyzed in a given analysis session. This consequently also accelerates the scanning time.